Gillian puts new name on Patron's Trophy

THIS year's trophy was contested by 17 members, four less than last year. With perennial champion Peggy Macliver injured, the women's contest was hotly fought, with Gillian Young just pipping Cathy McCloskey for the title.

The men also had a closer contest than in recent years, with Giovanni Puglisi pushing David Carr right up to the final 200m. Patron's trophy is a gruelling event, testing our athletes over a full range of track and field events. Congratulations to everyone who completed it.

Do you ever run on the track?

DO YOU ever run on the track? If so or if you are thinking of competing at the stadium in the State Championships, please take note of the following:

One of the athletes at WAAS on a Tuesday evening recently walked away with a chunk of track stuck on his spikes – obviously the WRONG sort of spikes. The Mondo track is designed for blunt spikes which propel a runner forward to maximise their performance. Sharp spikes penetrate the surface and have already begun to contribute to the degeneration of the track surface.

So, please, all MAWA athletes, make sure your spikes are of the correct design.

They can be ceramic or metal but MUST be either

Hi Vic
THANKS for publishing the Rottnest Marathon Masters participants. Seven runners have completed all 19 events since 1994:

Brian Danby
Joe Clark-Murphy
Ken Dacre
Steve McGrath
Garry Harris
John Davies
Paul Kelly

I'm looking forward to number 20 next October, hopefully we will all hold together until then.

Love reading the "Vetrun", helps me to keep in touch with my favourite club.

Cheers

Julie Keeley

Hi
THANKS ed for the awful pic of me in last newsletter lol. It was actually my number 10 trophy marathon at Rotto this year.

Also thanks for shaving a couple of years off my age but I'm in w45 (I hate to admit!).

Glad you liked the pic Julie; how's this one? VW

Hi John (Oldfield)
THANKS for all your support during the race. I feel like a bit of an odd duck out there on the track with you fast 'sprinters' sometimes, yet at the same time I feel totally welcome and encouraged.

Training with MAWA has been key to my successes in the last year and I'm grateful someone pointed me in your direction.

It's kind of you to put something on ultra-running in the mag.

Cheers
Bernadette

Bob and Lynne

THURSDAY night at ECAC – no Bob and Lynne?

Instead we were toggged up and off to dinner at the ANZ Sports Star Awards, held in the Ballroom, Crown Perth Hotel on Thursday 13 December.

As officials from Athletics WA, along with Bruce Wilson, walks judge Marion Buchanan and other senior AWA staff, we celebrated the outstanding achievements of our young sports stars.

Nominees from Athletics for the various awards included Alana Boyd (Sports Star), Elizabeth Parnov (Junior Sports Star), Alex Parnov (Coach of the Year) and Cheyne Cream (Emerging Regional Junior Sports Star).

MAWA Patron John Gilmour, a previous Sports Star winner in 1975 was also in attendance and we all had a most enjoyable evening.

All hale, our Greek gods

David

Dear Vic,
WHEN does an athlete cease to be spritely and become venerable? Page 3 of the December Vetrun, has our Albert Park M80 4X 400 relay team breaking who knows what record in 68.43! Only Greek Gods could do that, but it did look good on the page.

Our time was 6:0.65, but this has since been smashed by 28 secs by three of the same runners, with a formidable contribution from our own spritely and venerable David Carr.

Irwin Barrett-Lennard

I can't seem to read these records right! The 68.43 was the M80 4x100m record, shown in the Handbook immediately above the 4x400m score. VW

Plaudits for results team

Hi Vic
I DON'T know if this matter has been raised in Vetrun before but even if it has it deserves repetition.

As I was scanning the website to check how I went on my Sunday Shuffle (why would he even bother I hear you mutter!) I was reminded that we sometimes forget what a fantastic job a small, dedicated group of people do week in, week out to record, check, collate put on the website the results of at least four events each week. It's usually done in the space of 24 hours and they rarely make a mistake. Well done!

Incidentally would you please forward this email onto the sub-editor or even the assistant sub-editor, since judging by the photo of the Editor in the Vetrun he doesn't

Are You Doing The Long Run?

By Ross Keane

This is first of a series of coaching articles under preparation by Ross and his 'mentor', Marg Saunders.

THE running magazines and training websites all tell us that we should take a long run once a week, usually with a rest day built in on the day before the run. Sometimes the rest day will be on the day after.

This logic seems to apply for pretty much all middle- and long-distance runners, with track sprinters a possible exception. Length and duration of the 'long run' varies depending upon a runner's age, fitness and any specific training programme requirements.

The idea behind the long run is to build up your aerobic fitness. In other words, to improve your lung capacity to deliver oxygen to your muscles and other body bits under load.

This then gives you a base for better fitness, or maybe faster running, or to simply retain your current fitness level and ability.

Now, most of the serious club runners would have built the 'long run' into their weekly training programme long ago.

However, some club runners tell me that our Sunday club run is often their only run for the week! With this in mind I will borrow a line from Bob Schickert:

"Do the long run on Sundays and get your money's worth!"

It may hurt a little at first if Sundays are your only run for the week; but any pain will be eased by running in a big group and amongst friends. Our events are always held in a relatively safe and organised environment.

You will feel satisfied that you have the long one done and dusted before your week gets busy and it could be overlooked.

Happy running!

Bernadette beats Kosciuszko

WITH deep experience of ultra-running, Bernadette Benson is used to the pain and success of endurance events. Distance doesn't scare this athlete, whose latest exploit over two days in December was the Coast to Kosciuszko 240km run.

Aided by a four-strong back-up crew, Bernadette set off from Boydtown Beach at Eden, NSW at 5.30am on Friday December 7. Some 31 hours later she was posing for a photograph at the summit of Mt. Kosciuszko and at 1.19pm on Saturday she crossed the finish line back down at Charlotte's Pass.

Her time of 31h49m21s makes her the second fastest female in the race history, and the fastest Australian woman. Only five men beat her too!

You can read all the trials and successes of the build-up to the race, and her blog of the race itself on a very comprehensive website bernadettebenson.com/ultrarunning.

It's well worth the read.

Six-inch success for MAWA

ONE of the toughest distance races on the WA calendar is the 6-inch trail 'Marathon' which took place on December 16.

At 46km long it is more than a marathon, and on a mountain bike track running south from North Dandalup to Dwellingup. Hilly, rutted in places and very narrow in others it was challenging running for this year's 150-plus entrants.

Seven intrepid representatives of MAWA took part this year and all finished. Each has a different story to tell. Michael Barton was our first finisher, as last year, in 8th place overall, whilst Jodie Osborne took the 3rd place in the women's section.

Sandra Stockman was delighted with her 7th place in the women's race (32nd overall). Brian Bennett loves these challenging events; we remember his two Ironman successes recently, so it was no surprise that he finished well up the order, as did Karen March.

Equally happy no doubt, were Rachel Evans and Kerriann Bresser. Each came home well having conquered the course and the unique challenge presented by this run. Said Kerriann:

"I came along for the scenery and cruised along the course. I was happy to walk up the hills, and as there were an awful lot of hills I was awfully happy!"

Directors: Christine & John Oldfield

ONE regular runner had said on the Friday that she wouldn't do our run but would just potter along the river path and thought a few others might elect to do the same.

About 4pm on the Saturday John suggested that we include a special walk course. So we went out immediately and in addition to doing the already planned preliminary route marking we decided on a walk course, checked the rickety bridge (which has had some slats replaced), and measured out the route. That evening we worked out the logistics. Come Sunday morning, at around 6.20am and with most of the set up done, John realised we hadn't thought of water for the walkers! So our existing water station had to be moved at the last minute. But it was all worth it to see the walkers smiling.

It was a glorious morning with herons and spoonbills along the walk route and sacred ibis on the ground around the run path – but did anyone notice these?

All our helpers have already been told how wonderful they were. And, along with us, they were grateful for the appreciation shown to them by so many runners and walkers. This is well summed up in an e-mail we received from one of the marshals on the Sunday afternoon:

"Thanks! I am once again so impressed by this club – the friendliness of the members and the number of people who thank you as they pass is terrific."

Keep it up folks and we'll see you all again next year. JO & CO

Canning Caper

December 16, 2012

Director: Keith Atkinson

WHAT a perfect day for a run. I hope you all enjoyed it.

The run handicap was over 6km again this year, the second time. Judging by the number of participants it seems a success. We had a comparatively small bunch doing the full ten, and no walkers doing the long event.

Although judging from the amount of members taking advantage of the café afterwards you could have assumed more did the 10km, with the rehydrating, and reloading of carbs going on. I had said to the café owners that about 30 might buy a coffee or cake.

But I think it was more like 50-60. That's what makes this event so good though, it's such a nice spot.

Thanks to Mark, and Michelle for stepping in at the last moment to help out on the day, as we were a little tight for helpers. Thanks also for the support from the previously volunteered group of, Richard, Helen, Chris, Aldo, Dante, John, Garry. I will see you all, same place roughly, same time next year. Keith

FEELING ITCHY?

IF SO ... and you go off scratch in a handicap event instead of your handicap – please don't go through the chute!

Our ace recording team spent three days sorting out the results of the Caper, because some members did the handicap distance, but did not go off their handicap time. To be fair to them, some told the table recorders so, but that info was missed. So the fail-safe method is – don't go into the chute in a handicap if you don't run/walk off your proper handicap.

Thanks – you'll help us produce accurate results much more easily.

Alderbury Park Cross Country

December 30, 2012

Director: Wayne Taylor

Above, Wayne on trombone. Below, 'sort it out, which way are we going?'

Lower, Chris Koemam leads Bob Lane; and Paul Odam with Bjorn Dybdahl. Bottom, the start; and next page, Ross Kean with Paul Hughes.

THE post-Christmas cross-country run (and separate road walk) under the trees at Perry Lakes is always popular and this year we had a record (at least in my time as race director) 105 finishers despite the hot conditions.

The starting temperature at 7am was 29 degrees, which may also be a record. All runners and walkers were cautioned to stay hydrated and take it easy – even so, several finishers suffered after getting a little over-heated on the back-end, shadeless part of the course. Last year a few runners had the unpleasant experience of falling into one of several grass-covered holes. However this year, thanks to the efforts of Vic Waters and Frank Smith, those tricky spots were well flagged and runners managed to avoid them. We also put out 200 additional yellow marker flags around the running course – so no one had an excuse to get lost or run on the bitumen.

Many thanks to all my helpers, especially Paul Ankers who helped me lay out the course on the previous evening.

Christmas Gift 2012

Over-size Marathon

I AM still pondering your first question as to whether I enjoyed the event.

I think I'll enjoy it more next year (I must have enjoyed it if I'm prepared to do it again!) as I'll be better prepared and know what I'm in for.

It was tough going but a great challenge all the same. You had to be constantly alert or you'd miss a turn and end up off-course. It was always a relief to see an arrow marked in flour on the ground as I knew I was still on track.

Walk, not jog

The spectators were great, cheering everyone on at various spots and offering lollies and encouragement. My main difficulties were running with a backpack/bladder and getting up some of the steep hills; I found it easier to walk quickly than jog slowly up them.

Hurdling and ducking

But it was beautiful running along the trails, hurdling over logs, ducking under branches, scooting down the hills and finally hearing the cheers of supporters and those already finished at the end; oh, and the glass of champers went down a treat.

Recovery-wise, I pulled up surprisingly well, with no soreness in the legs over the next two days. I put this down to running on softer surfaces than a 'normal' marathon, which is usually run on concrete or bitumen.

Race directors: update our maps

As a course map for each event is now available on our website, race directors are asked to ensure the information for their event is kept up to date.

Changes can occur for many reasons but once you are satisfied the course has been tried and tested please give a copy of the map to Jim Klinge (our map expert) or to me at one of our Sunday runs. Thanks.
