'Winter Throwers' comeback

AFTER five years without a home we are able to revive our Winter Throwers group.

This is an informal training group that meets on Saturday mornings and is open to all club members, throwers and anyone who would like to try. Lindsey Glass has kindly offered to coach us again.

There will be five sessions before the season starts – on August 24 and 31; and September 14, 21 and 28.

We will meet at WAAS from 9.30-11.00. Normal WAAS entry fee applies.

Contact Damien Hanson 0407 477 986.

Meeting and greeting!

New members join Masters every month. Brian Bennett suggests we could all try harder to welcome newcomers to the club.

This is a suggestion which I was intending to raise at the AGM but didn't because we ran out of time.

I'm embarrassed to see new people at our runs, who, especially when they come on their own, look really lost and anxious when we who know each other are mingling, laughing and chatting cheerfully.

I think this needs to be addressed, perhaps initially by the committee, and then, if necessary by the members.

One thing I thought of is to ask or nominate one or more members to watch for people who look lost, and to go up to the person and introduce oneself and chat in an effort to ease their anxiety.

Maybe also we would then introduce him/her to other people, invite the person to have a little warm-up jog while chatting.

The reasons I think there should be more than one person nominated to do this are obvious, I hope.

We don't all go to every run, and the 'nominated' member might be late or busy with other stuff and not see the first-timer. Also, it might be better for some first-timers to be welcomed by someone of the same gender.

I cast my mind back to when I was new to the club and how anxious I was (even though I'd been running for many years). I honestly think I might not have kept coming if I didn't have Marg with me.

When everyone else seems to be chatting happily to each other, and especially when one is trying to get into running for the first time, and is being ignored, it can be extremely daunting to be standing alone and wishing the bloody race would start!

Well, that was my experience when I first went to a marathon club run more than 20 years ago. Instead, this 'first time' should be a pleasant memory!

History grant awarded

LOTTERYWEST has approved a $1500 grant towards the publication of Christine Oldfield's book celebrating the 40th anniversary of MAWA.

Thanks are due to Geoff Brayshaw who undertook the task of preparing and submitting the application. The book will be launched on February 9 at McCallum Park. The grant means that the cost of the book can be kept very low.

After the Marathon ...

Hi Vic,
THANKS for the July Vetrun, which I've just read; full of good stuff, as usual.

However, two comments on the marathon results:

1 - Ed Wall was not included in the results. Maybe his time could be mentioned here? It was 3.20.37, which is very good for 60 years old. He's an inspiration to anyone thinking of running as a means of weight control. A few years ago, as he will tell you, he was overweight and very unfit.

(*Ed confirms that he used to weigh 100 kilos, in 2009, and now is "almost scrawny, just 75 kilos"!)

And of less importance, I note that the times listed are based on when the gun went off, rather than how long it took to run the race. For the front runners, the difference could be negligible, but for plodders like me it can be up to half a minute. My own times were 3.33.47 (gun time) and 3.33.22 (real time).

Wayne's PB

Hi Vic,
JUST back from the Gold Coast Marathon where I had a good run in excellent conditions and did 3:33:18 (PB for me).

Lisa Searle ran the half in 89:33 - a top 10 performance for her age group.
Wayne (Taylor)

Ray plumbs the depths...

WE'VE all too frequently heard or read the phrase "A recent study shows ...", well a current one claims that taking fish oil increases the risk of prostate cancer.

Different brands tell us to take anywhere from one tablet twice a day to what's shown on my current brand, which is three, three times a day.

One Google entry says that there's no such thing as overdosing.

I never have a 'flu needle, and so you might say that I'm gambling with my health. But at nearly eighty I've already outlived one of my two siblings also my Dad, as well as a number of acquaintances.

When my blood pressure was checked, for no good reason other than that the government told me to, the nurse simply wrote it on my report and when I asked "Well, what was it?" all I got back was "Bloody marvellous!"

Bummer

So what has this to do with me having or not having a risky bum?

Remember the amount of poor fish who died supposedly to keep me healthy. I go once annually for a check and the doc. said recently that my reading had even gone down, from 2.1 to 1.4.

Giovanni - spruiking Perth to the finish!

Hiya Vic,
HOPE you are well wherever you are. I'm not sure if you are in the UK at the moment or if indeed you have come over at all.

(I did, and still am. VW)

Lesley and I are preparing to leave England - back to Perth after exactly six months away.

I was invited to address a large crowd of approx 500 runners and supporters prior to the start of the Frimley Lodge Park Run last Saturday in what was my farewell run.

Thanked one and all for their hospitality and challenged them to be in Perth during October-November 2016 for the Masters Games and to sample some of our hospitality plus many of the wonderful things Perth and surrounds has to offer.

After the run more than a dozen folk came up to tell me that they will be making every endeavour to come to Perth.

How's Jim?

One fellow, Steve Rowlands, a member of the Ranelagh Harriers, had made the trip over from Cranley to take part in the Frimley run that morning, approached me and Hmm, don't tell the person/persons who completed that 'recent study'.

I once had a French doctor who gave me these suppositories but they tasted awful and for all the good they did me I might as well have stuck them ...

Ray Hall

declared that he hoped to come over in 2016 and wanted to know if I'd heard of, or knew of, a runner in Perth by the name of - JIM LANGFORD!

He was thrilled to learn that Jim's a WA Master amongst other things.

(*I believe Jim ran for Ranelagh in his early days in London. VW)

The weather finally dried up over here about a month ago and I was able to manage a few niggly injuries to the point, I'm pleased to report, that I managed 19 mins 48 secs for the 5km and claimed the 60-64 years age group record by one second.

Phew! Wot a Scorcher

For last Saturday the weather bureau forecasted sunny, HOT conditions.

During the warm up many of the locals were a bit concerned the effect the blazing sun would have on their performance. At the 9am 'off' it was a scorching 19 degrees, easily the hottest morning of the year!

I revelled in the 'extreme' conditions and posted a season's best of 19 mins 36 secs - a fine farewell to Frimley.

Vic, I'm hoping to do at least one Masters running event in the week that I'm in Helsinki. Looking forward to getting back home and racing in some 'cooler' weather in a couple of weeks time.

Regards,
Giovanni 'John' Puglisi

Club Half Marathon

July 14, 2013

Director: Jim Klinge

THE events were very popular this year with record numbers of participants. The run attracted 147 runners and walkers for the half-marathon, 10.5km and 6km events.

Last year there were only 108 participants. This year 61 runners completed the half-marathon compared to 31 finishers last year. Eight walkers completed the half-marathon compared to only three last year. There was also a record number, 25, visitors.

Once again having a marker at each kilometre proved to be very popular with the runners and walkers and I had a lot of positive feedback.

It turned out to be a perfect day, sunny but cool, with hardly any breeze made for perfect running conditions. The 6km and half-marathon turnarounds were well flagged and nobody had trouble locating them. The course was very accurately measured with a calibrated measuring wheel. Thanks to all of you who competed and especially thanks to the volunteer helpers whose efforts made this a very enjoyable morning.

New Perry Lakes

July 21, 2013

Directors: Jeff and Dorothy Whittam

ON A very cold morning, 102 runners and walkers turned out to try and get warm by going various distances around Perry Lakes Reserve.

Owing to the work going on for the new housing estate the road we normally use had been fenced off at the end of the boardwalk, and this meant we had to include about 150m of grass. Okay for the runners but not so good for the walkers, though there were no complaints. Paul must have enjoyed his walk as he did an extra 500m by coming back to the finish in the middle of his walk.

We would like to thank all our helpers, Lorna, Sheila, Patricia, Michele, Janet, Elaine, Merv and Mark who volunteered on the morning and also Maurice for the timing equipment.

See you all again next year?

State Cross Country Championships

July 27, 2013

Director: Committee

A PERFECT day (cool and cloudy, but no rain) saw about 80 runners tackle 1, 2 or 3 laps of this wonderful cross country course in Kalamunda which involves crossing a creek twice each lap and a fairly challenging uphill finish.

Congratulations to overall winners Kim Thomas (35:12) and Sue Zlany (41:25). For the State Championship Cross Country distance of 8km, medals were awarded to winners and place-getters in each age group. Many thanks to John Pellier for marking the course again this year and to all the helpers who made sure the event ran smoothly and safely.

After the run, a superb breakfast was enjoyed by all and thanks go to the team of ladies, led by Jacqui Beaumont, who each year put on this wonderful spread. Traditionally, this run has been organised by the Committee but they have decided to appoint a race director for next year.

State Cross Country Championships

Director: Committee

ALTHOUGH I got a bit wet marking out the course, thankfully the rain cleared well before the run and the conditions were perfect with, as they say in racing parlance, a good firm track.

The numbers were down, presumably due to a clash with the Perth Half Marathon Championships, but there still seemed to be plenty of close competition between those who did run. I heard that the walkers enjoyed their course, which I can confirm is 6.7km, not 6.

I would like to thank my nominated helpers, Carmel, Tracey, Bob, Mali, Lee and Alan. Thanks also Jackie, Jim, Ray and Tom who volunteered in response to my last minute plea for additional help. A willingness of some members to step forward when needed is what makes a race director's job a lot easier and as a result we ended up with a very successful event. I trust everyone enjoyed themselves and will, I hope, be back next year.

'Correct intensity ensures improvement'

advises

Marg Saunders

MY last article focussed on the one important principle of training – recovery. This month I am discussing more of the general principles of training.

These principles apply equally to the elite athlete who competes against the best in the world – and to the casual jogger. They should be applied by any athlete who wishes to achieve his or her potential. They are relevant to athletes of all ages.

If improvement is not occurring, or you are getting injured, then check as to which general principle is not being adhered to.

Two general examined here are specificity and overload.

Specificity

The needs of the particular area of the sport must be looked at and the training must be specific to these demands.

Obviously sprinters need speed training and distance athletes focus on endurance. However, although an endurance athlete needs to have an aerobic base, speed is required for certain sections of a race. This may be the start of the race to break up the pack, a surge during the race or the sprint to the finish line.

Similarity must exist between training and the event in competition, both in muscle groups used and the energy sources utilised. The movement patterns must be duplicated as closely as possible. Flexibility and strengthening exercises should mimic the requirements for the event.

Overload

The body is capable of adapting to training loads and these must place demands on the body. Training loads of the correct intensity will ensure improvement.

It is essential to stress the athlete to a load slightly beyond that normally encountered. This will give the body cause to adapt and improve its functional ability. As these changes occur and the body adapts, the stress can again be progressively increased until further adaptation occurs.

However it is difficult to know how much to stress the body and this is frequently where errors are made in writing and undertaking training programmes.

It is important gradually increase the training load.

Sudden elevation in the intensity may produce chronic fatigue rather than adaptation. Conversely, if the training load is too light then performance will not improve.

If large training loads are completed very close together, then overtraining symptoms may occur. If training with a group it's important to remember that each athlete might respond differently to the training session. So you would change subsequent training sessions, after having assessed the individual reactions to the training load.

Interval training sessions are an excellent way of overloading the athlete. Typical sessions will be discussed in a future article. ■
